

RECORDED PHONE CONVERSATION BETWEEN AMBER FREY AND SCOTT PETERSON:
(January 2, 2003 at 2242 hours)

(phone ringing)

PETERSON: Hello.

FREY: Hello.

PETERSON: Hey.

FREY: Hi.

PETERSON: I lost ya.

FREY: I know. I was like hello, hello. Just...

PETERSON: Oh, it's cold out here.

FREY: Are you outside now?

PETERSON: Yeah. And yes, we'll go to the monarch capital of the world, which I don't believe is just uh... Yellowstone Park, maybe it is.

FREY: Well, maybe it's not. I don't know, for whatever reason I was thinking Yellowstone but um...

PETERSON: It could be. And it could be the monarch capital of California, would that be okay?

FREY: I think that would be okay. Yeah, that sounds good.

PETERSON: Yeah. I have a picture of you guys here.

FREY: You do?

PETERSON: Yeah.

FREY: So you're looking at us?

PETERSON: _____ carrying _____ pocket. (inaudible, garbled)

FREY: What was that?

PETERSON: I've been carrying it in my suit pocket.

H

FREY: In your suit pocket?

PETERSON: Yeah.

FREY: Oh!

PETERSON: I need a new one because it's definitely worn.

FREY: You just might get a new one.

PETERSON: Excellent.

FREY: Have they been sending you your mail?

PETERSON: What's that?

FREY: Have they been sending you your mail?

PETERSON: I haven't received any here yet, no.

FREY: No, it should...

PETERSON: Is there...?

FREY: Huh?

PETERSON: Is there some on the way?

FREY: There should be, yeah.

PETERSON: All right. Another photograph?

FREY: Although it's not...I hesitated. I go I don't know if this is really that good but...

PETERSON: I'm sure it's great.

FREY: But um...yeah, it's not really that...I mean it's not that great.
I probably shouldn't have sent it.

PETERSON: No, I think it'll be great and I'll love it.

FREY: What did I write on the back of the other one that's in your pocket?

PETERSON: Um...

FREY: What does it say um...?

PETERSON: I know it says uh...my love.

FREY: Oh, but I can't remember if that was all I wrote on it or not.

PETERSON: Yeah. And it said something else, I think it has the date.

FREY: Yeah.

PETERSON: Yeah. It has the date and it said my love and it said Amber and Ayianna.

FREY: Yeah, I think that one's a little better. It's cute.

PETERSON: I don't look at the back of it, I look at the front of it.

FREY: I know. I know, but I just...I don't know, I always like writing on the back of pictures because...

PETERSON: Well, it's kinda crushed.

FREY: Um...I don't know, it's just a habit I guess.

PETERSON: Yeah.

FREY: I know.

PETERSON: _____ (garbled, inaudible). Hey, lover, you go to bed now okay?

FREY: All right.

PETERSON: Go out and party.

FREY: Tomorrow.

PETERSON: You should.

FREY: I will.

PETERSON: I'm gonna try this running thing again.

FREY: Okay.

PETERSON: And I miss you.

FREY: I miss you too.

PETERSON: And I'll look at your picture and...

FREY: Are you still kissing it? Are you still kissing...

PETERSON: ...and think about you and I can feel you in my arms...

FREY:

PETERSON: And feel your lips.

FREY: No, I was...

PETERSON: Good night, sweetie.

FREY: All right.

PETERSON: Good morning, sweetie.

FREY: .: All right. Well, you be careful, okay?

PETERSON: I will, lover. I'll talk you soon, huh?

FREY: Okay.

PETERSON: Bye.

FREY: Bye.
